Call for participations in KPS 70th Anniversary and 2022 Fall Meeting Exhibition

The Korean Physical Society (KPS) hosts KPS meetings in every spring and fall, twice per year. It is the largest meeting in the field of physics in Korea. In KPS meeting, over 1,800 KPS members attend and exchange their recent research achievements in physics, giving around 1,200 presentations in over 100 academic oral or poster sessions.

KPS also runs exhibitions of research equipment, facilities, and academic books related with physics or physics education. Companies or institutes can display their recent products or achievements and may have chance to make new business contacts through the exhibition. In particular, this year marks the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Korean Physical Society and 'International Year of Basic Sciences for Development' designated by the United Nations. In commemoration of this, a variety of events will be held, including Nobel Prize winners's plenary lectures, erudite scholars's special lectures, and public events. To share these events, we invite your companies, institutions, and organizations to participate in the exhibition, hoping you consider joining in our events positively..
